MAXFACT #89

“Now is the time...”

-Martin Luther King, Jr.

Leaving a legacy has nothing to do with ego, but everything to do with impacting others. Whether you are a parent, coach, teacher, friend or business leader, YOU have the opportunity to cause others to become “better”.

The blessing of life IS the chance to help someone else. Use your talents and God-given gifts to change things in this world for the betterment of mankind. From this effort, you'll grow too.

We invite you to share this Memo with a colleague!

...COMMENCEMENT

Change suggests an end, but only if you want it to. Better yet, change is a commencement...a new beginning.

As we complete our 100th and final edition, we truly hope that one of our MAX Memos has touched you at “just the right time”. We trust that our balance of business and personal topics has caused you to introspect in meaningful ways.

As we end our MAX Memos series, we leave you with this thought: Regardless of whatever in life you're called to do, we encourage you to do it with genuine passion.

In closing, please visit www.passthewealth.org, or www.thewayoutfitters.com. Both of these sites exemplify the meaning of commencement, as both are a source of new beginnings. We hope you'll find similar callings in your life...where you can participate and support with passion!

Ponder This...

How can I make a true difference in this world?
